DIVERSIFIED CROPS PAY FARMERS BEST

SUCH IS THE OPINION OF EXPERTS FOR RAILWAY.

Prof. W. H. Olin of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad Very Much Gratified With the Showings Being Made at This Time By the Agricultural Interests.

After an inspection trip through Utah, W. H. Olin, agricultural commissioner of the Denver and Rio Grande, is gratified to observe that the farmers of Utah are going in for diversified products. "That is an exceedingly good sign," says Professor Olin. "Crop prospects in this state are very promising, and diversified farming means that the farmers will not have all their eggs in one basket—that they will have several crops from which to expect returns."

In common with authorities on agricultural education and agricultural experts everywhere, Olin has been urging diversified farming in the territory traversed by the Denver and Rio Grande system. Olin arrived in Salt Lake City Friday from Sevier county, where he has been conducting some potato investigations. He will remain at and around Zion several days and will compare notes with L. A. Merrill, agricultural commissioner of the Salt Lake Route, whose activities are in the western section of the state.

"Indications for the general farmer are excellent in these parts of Utah I have just visited on this trip," said Olin. "The farmers are discovering that there is more certainty of income in diversified crops and many are raising live stock on the side. They are finding that they can fatten hogs on the forage crops of their places and that these crops improve the quality of their lands."

"The fruit farmers have met with some discouragements. What they should do is to grow seed crops in their orchards, feeding the crops to live stock or selling it, and allowing the stalks to improve the richness of their orchard soil. They do this, and they double their incomes. I believe this plan has started something among the fruit farmers."

His Mascot.

Which is the most significant motor car mascot? I think the palm goes to the one that a doctor friend of mine has had put on his car. He is a very good doctor, but his mascot is the ace of spades. It is nailed on the front of the bonnet as a memento to all men. Spades—a doctor!—London Express.

LEWIS A. MERRILL DEAD

Succumbs Following An Automobile Accident Near Salt Lake City.

Prof. Lewis A. Merrill, who died last Tuesday morning from injuries received in an automobile accident Monday night, will rest in soil of his native heath. His body will be buried at his former home and workplace at Richmond in Cache county.

Funeral services were held in Salt Lake City yesterday afternoon at the Thirty-first ward chapel. Bishop J. Percy Goddard officiated. Several prominent men of the state spoke at the funeral, including Governor Spry, Dr. John A. Whitson, president of the State Agricultural college, Hugh J. Cannon and Edwin S. Rhees.

The dead man had many friends throughout Eastern Utah, and especially in Carbon county, made at such times as he visited this section in the interest of the agricultural college farm demonstrations and as well expert for railroad interests. His death is mourned by hundreds locally.

Misses Ethel Wilmore and Stella Chamberlain, who received injuries in the accident which proved fatal to Professor Merrill, are reported as being much improved today.

Buchanan's Fund for Charity.

One of the few funds, if not the only one, left for charity by a president of the United States, is used in Lancaster, Pa., for buying coal for the poor at Christmas and for other good uses. The fund was left by President Buchanan, who was a resident of Lancaster, and the income now amounts to about $2,000 a year.

TO BE AUCTIONED OFF

National Woolgrowers' Association to Hold Sale of Fine Stock.

So far twenty-five hundred head of sheep have been entered for the Elwood sheep sale to be held at Salt Lake City September 8th and 9th by the National Woolgrowers' association. Entries have been made from Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Wyoming, Utah, Kentucky, Michigan and Ohio. They are coming in fast now, as it is expected that the cattle will be closed about June 15th.

According to S. W. McClure, secretary of the National Woolgrowers' association, there is every reason to believe that Salt Lake City will welcome a big gathering of sheepmen of the western range when the sale is conducted. A catalogue describing the entered sheep will be issued by the middle of June, and five thousand copies will be mailed out to sheepmen.

Dwight Lincoln of Milford Center, O., has been engaged to do the auctioning of sheep to be sold.

WHY WOMEN ARE MORE RESTLESS

DESTINY OF NATIONS DEPENDS UPON CONTENTED HOMES.

May the Good Lord Save Us From a Hen-Pecked Nation—President of Texas Farmers' Union Asks the Question As to Why the Fair Sex Is So Greatly Dissatisfied.

By W. D. Lewis, President Texas Farmers' Union.

Why is woman dissatisfied? Why does she grow restless under the crown of womanhood? Why is she weary of the God-given jewel of motherhood? Is it not a sufficient political achievement for woman that future rulers nurse at her breast, laugh in her arms and kneel at her feet? Can ambition leap to more glorious heights than to sing lullabies to the world's greatest geniuses, chant melodies to master minds and rock the cradle of human destiny?

God pity our country when the hand-shake of the politician is more gratifying to woman's heart than the patting of children's feet.

Woman is Ruler Over All.

Why does woman chafe under restraint of sex? Why revile the hand of nature? Why discard the skirts that civilization has clung to since the beginning of time? Why lay aside this hallowed garment that has wiped the tears of sorrow from the face of childhood? In its sacred embrace every generation has hidden its face in shame; clinging to its motherly folds, tottering children have learned to play hide and seek and from it youth learned to reverence and respect womanhood. Can man think of his mother without this consecrated garment?

Why this inordinate thirst for power? Is not woman all powerful? Man cannot enter this world without her consent, he cannot remain in peace without her blessing and unless she sheds tears of regret over his departure, he has lived in vain. Why this longing for civic power when God has made her ruler over all? Why crave authority when man bows down and worships her? Man has given woman his heart, his name and his money. What more does she want?

Can man find it in his heart to look with pride upon the statement that his honorable mother-in-law was one of the most powerful political bosses in the country, that his distinguished grandmother was one of the ablest filibusters in the Senate or that his mother was a noted warrior and her name a terror to the enemy? Whither are we drifting and where will we land?

God Save Us From a Hen-Pecked Nation.

I follow the plow for a living and my views may have in them the smell of the soil; my hair is turning white under the frost of many winters and perhaps I am a little old-fashioned, but I believe there is more moral influence in the dress of woman than in all the statute books of the land. As an agency for morality, I wouldn't give my good old mother's home-made gowns for all the suffragette's constitutions and by-laws in the world.

As a power for purifying society, I wouldn't give one prayer of my saintly mother for all the women's votes in Christendom. As an agency for good government, I wouldn't give the plea of a mother's heart for righteousness for all the oaths of office in the land. There is more power in the smile of woman than in an act of congress. There are greater possibilities for good government in her family of laughing children than in the cabinet of the president of the United States.

The destiny of this nation lies in the home and not in the legislative halls. The hearthstone and the family Bible will ever remain the source of our inspiration and the Acts of the Apostles will ever shine brighter than the acts of Congress.

This country is law-mad. Why add to a statute book, already groaning under its own weight, the hysterical cry of woman? If we never had a chance to vote again in a lifetime and did not pass another law in twenty years.

TAKE UP DAIRYING

Late Frosts in Western Colorado Cause Great Damage.

Fruitgrowers in Western Colorado are going in for dairying and stockraising as a result of late frosts, which blighted fruit prospects, declares W. F. Jensen, president of the Mutual Creamery company, who is back at Salt Lake City from Grand Junction. "Dairying and stock raising will be the principal industries with them hereafter. Fruit raising will be just a side line," says Jensen. "They say they cannot afford to take chances on fruit as their sole source of income."

"A government canal is just being completed in the Grand Junction valley and many of the fruit farmers have arranged for tracts adjacent to it for the raising of forage crops for their stock. They are not digging up their orchards. The other arrangements will give them the chance to raise feed. Many of them are raising clover and alfalfa between trees in their orchards."

Five years, we could survive the ordeal, but without home civilization would wither and die.

God save these United States from becoming a hen-pecked nation; help us keep sisies out of Congress and forbid that women become step-fathers to government, is the prayer of the farmers of this country.

A DIVINE COVENANT.

God Almighty gave Eve to Adam with the pledge that she would be his helpmeet and with this order of companionship, civilization has towered to its greatest heights. In this relationship, God has blessed woman and man has honored her and after four thousand years of progress, she now proposes to provoke God to decoy man by asking for suffrage, thereby by amending an agreement to which she was not a party.

Woman, remember that the Israelite scorned a divine covenant, and as a result wandered forty years in the wilderness without God. Likewise man should remember that it is a dangerous thing to debate woman by law. Rome tried lowering woman's standard and an outraged civilization tore the clothes off the backs of the human race and turned them out to roam in the world naked and ashamed.

FOR UTAH TEACHERS

Summer School Plans Outlined By the University of Utah.

The twenty-second annual session of the University of Utah summer school begins next Monday and continues until July 15th. A bulletin has been issued to teachers and students throughout the state announcing the courses of instruction available.

The summer school includes special work in nearly all branches of education and a number of trips are always planned for the purpose of experimentation in connection with certain courses of study.

Features of the session are a course by Prof. Maud May Babcock, the teachers' institute and a special course for piano students. A special event this summer is a general summer excursion to the Utah copper mine at Bingham.

Favorite Star.

From ancient days Regulus has been one of the favorite stars of mariners and so-called astrologers. The ancient names designated it as the king of stars. In its apparent passage through the path of the zodiac the sun is almost between us and Regulus, and once a month the moon is near it and at times comes directly between it and our earthly vision, or "occults" it. For this alone Regulus ought to be one of the fascinating stars at this time of the year.

ALFALFA WEEVIL CIRCULAR ISSUES

PAMPHLET ISSUED TELLS HOW TO COMBAT THE PEST.

George I. Reeves of the Bureau of Entomology Says Brush Drowning Is Most Helpful Under Certain Conditions—Has Recently Issued Pamphlet of Importance.

Methods of combating the alfalfa weevil and mitigating the ravages of the pest are outlined in a bulletin recently written by George I. Reeves of the United States bureau of entomology. Perusal of the bulletin leaves one with the impression that about the only practical way to kill the weevil other than by spraying is to broil him to death with the red heated earth as a gridiron. For this purpose the surface must be reduced to a fine dust much by application of the brush drag, a fine tooth harrow or other means.

The operation of preparing the mulch also precipitates the insect from his place of residence and forces upon the tender new shoots of the alfalfa to the surface of the dust mulch. The dust becomes heated to a temperature of 120 degrees Fahrenheit under the rays of the summer sun, whereupon the weevil ceases all earthly endeavor and becomes a greasy spot. For destruction by spraying a solution of arsenate of lead is used.

One of the important features of the bulletin is that dealing with the spread of the pest by adherence to farm products in shipment. The fact is brought out that alfalfa seed is free from it. According to the information included, the weevil first made its appearance in this country near Salt Lake City about ten years ago. Since that time it has spread throughout the northern half of Utah, and to adjacent sections of Idaho and Wyoming. It is estimated that half the annual alfalfa yield is lost through its destructive operations.

The occurrence of weevils in farm products which are being shipped by freight and express, stored in warehouses, and sold in markets, says Reeves, has been exhaustively studied, with a view to learning how the spread of the insect into new territory may be prevented.

Fruit, vegetables, alfalfa seed and nursery stock contain no more weevils than do any other commodities. That is, they contain virtually none, with the single exception of potatoes which have been in contact with infested green alfalfa. Alfalfa hay sometimes contains adults and some of them may remain alive for six months in the stack.

Virtually the only other danger of spreading the weevil is by carrying it in clothing either on the person or in baggage.
